

Pearl of Essaouira

Weight limit: 90kg
Nearest airport: Marrakech / Essaouira
6 days / 5 nights / 4 riding days

This condensed riding trail shows you highlights of Morocco over 6 days, perfect for those who want to get away but are short on time.

From the largest Argan tree to beautiful cliffs bordering the Atlantic Ocean in the Essaouira region, the landscape will change and surprise you every day. Ride through large forests, walk the bends of the Ksob river, and pass through small natural canyons created by the flow of water in the rainy seasons.

Enjoy the delicacies of typical Moroccan cuisine, freshly prepared at your bivouac camp, and finish your trail with a visit to the Medina of Essaouira for some shopping or a massage.

The Riding

The riding is at all paces, finishing with a gallop on the beach. The terrain is varied.

Guides & Group sizes

The ride is accompanied by two local guides while out on trail. Omar and his team are knowledgeable, friendly & calm, with a lifetime experience of riding, training horses and looking after customers.

The group size is 3-10 riders, but will confirm for 2 riders with a small group supplement.

Horses and Tack

The horses used on this trail are local Berber-Arabians. The breed was created as the perfect warhorse nearly a 1000 years ago by crossing refined Arabians and Barb (Berber) bloodlines. It is the ideal breed in the hot desert environment being tough and robust with the speed of an Arab. The horses stand at approx. 15hh.

Level of riding and fitness

This trail is suitable for intermediate and experienced riders. The riders should be comfortable and confident in all three paces and have previous experience in riding out in the open. Good riding fitness is required as you'll be spending 5 hours in the saddle each day.

Accommodation & Dining

The first and last night of the trail is spent in a hotel in Essaouira. While out on trail the accommodation will be in bivouac camps, sleeping in collective tents of 6 to 7 people (bring your own sleeping bag). There is also the option of having your own small dome tent. Perfect if you are travelling as an individual and want your own space. Your bivouac is equipped with a warm water shower.

Spend evenings sitting around a campfire and enjoying traditional Moroccan meals prepared by a chef.

Allergies and special dietary requirements can be catered for with advance notice.

Climate

The weather in Morocco is warm all year round with very little rainfall. Winter temperature from December to February are generally at 20°C during the day and dropping below 10°C during the night. March - May and October – November are usually very pleasant with daytime temperatures at 20-23°C and above 10°C at night. The summer from June to September is the hottest time when you'll experience temperatures of 25°C and above during the day and 15°C and above at night.

While riding on the coast, the Atlantic breeze usually keeps the temperature from rising too high while the inland can get hotter. Some parts of your trail will be higher in altitude at the Atlas Mountains where the temperatures can be cooler.
